Greenway*

These thrown products are naturally beautiful, with a texture that captures the essence of the earth. Today's PGH Sandstock still reflects traditional brick making methods, with products being cast in sawdust-lined moulds to produce their individual texture. This process results in unrivalled individual hand made character.

Classic Sandstocks

Mosman

Unique by nature, beautiful by design

The rough texture and random irregularity of our Sandstocks make them bricks of great character. PGH Sandstocks have a quality look and appeal to a wide variety of building designs, ranging from contemporary prestige homes, to those requiring an authentic colonial period look.

Let the architecture
do the talking

These versatile bricks can be used on the interior, or exterior, of a home. For example, on the interior, the Greenway, when teamed with a black mortar, creates a dramatic feature wall. Whilst on the exterior, when paired with an off white mortar, it can produce great columns in porticos and verandahs.

Bricks – The Right Choice

If you want your home to stand the test of time when it comes to style, durability, level of maintenance, energy efficiency and long term resale value, then brick really is the right choice. Bricks are safe, solid and will last for a very long time with virtually no maintenance. Brick doesn't require any painting or patching. It never fades, warps or rots. And with virtually no effort or expense, your brick home will look as beautiful 60 years from now, as it does today. What's more, bricks are a sustainable, energy efficient choice. They provide thermal mass, an integral part of energy efficient design, and a proven way to reduce the need for heating and cooling devices.
